

ResMed AirFit P10 for Her

The AirFit™ P10 for Her goes head to head with its predecessor the Swift Fx, and emerges the winner by being 50% lighter. This mask offers the best in terms of comfort and style, with no compromise on its performance. The AirFit™ P10 for Her further has a split strap design for the headgear. This aids in providing better field of vision.

This is the female version of the p10 and the headgear is a pink strap which is slightly smaller and adds a more feminine touch.

It uses QuietAir™ woven mesh in its tubing, which expels air quietly, without disturbing the patient or their partner.

The basic design for the AirFit™ P10 for Her was built on comfort and durability. The tube is very light and unobtrusive, giving freedom to the patient to engage in some activities such as reading and watching television while wearing the mask. Because it is made out of three parts, it is very easy to assemble, disassemble and clean.

The package includes all three sizes of the seals, leaving you the option of choosing the best one. The sizes are extra small, small and medium.
